HENRY PETERS

FACULTY - MIREILLE RODDIER

These images explore the relationship between solid and void, capturing the sense of volume as a device for capturing light, and exploring an interest in the choreography of a personal habitat.

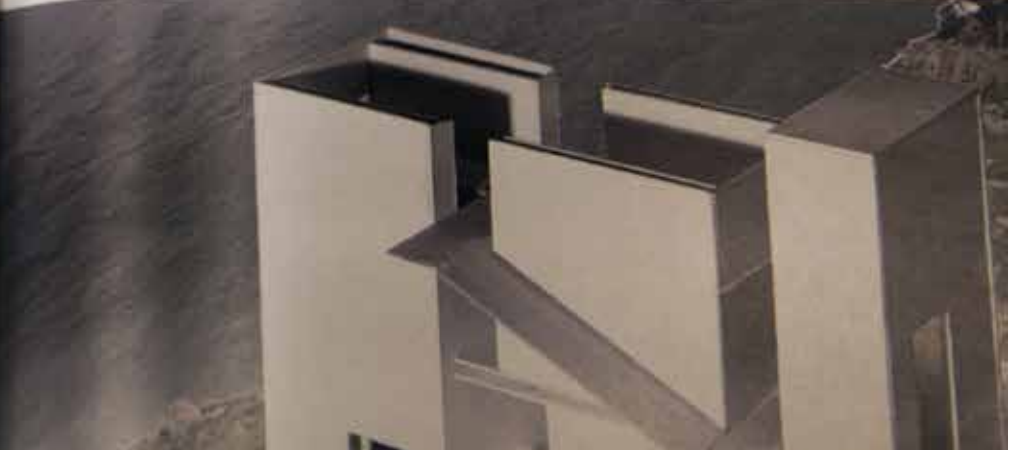

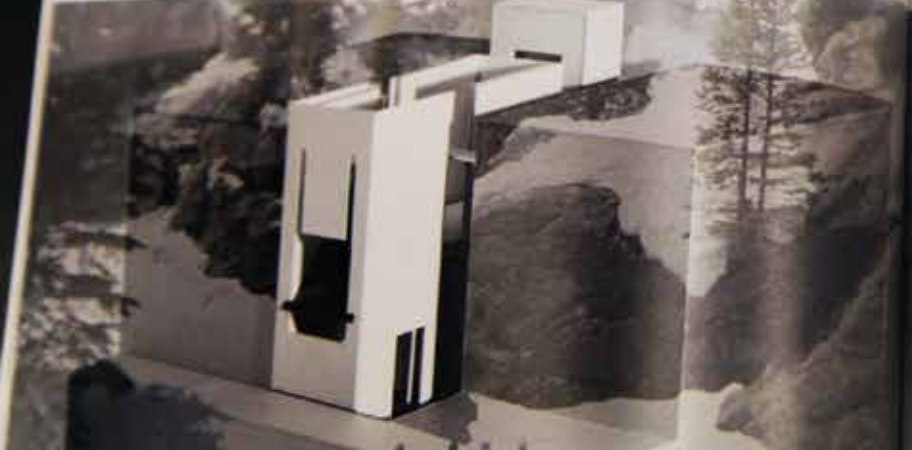

A vertical structure would investigate the framework and scaffold as the construction of an object, an experience that is on the ground but ungrounded, physically present yet spatially absent. These layered volumes cut through the rigid framework, creating vision and space against the grain, capturing interconnected views of the site, and reflecting sunlight.

ELLIS WILLS-BEGLEY

FACULTY - SEAN VANCE

THE HOUSE SUGGESTS A SENSE OF FINE ASSOCIATION
OF A HOUSE THROUGH A SENSITIVE REACTION.
THESE ARCHITECTURAL DRAWINGS BY SEAN VANCE LEAD TO A SENSITIVE OF SENSATION THAT PLACES THE HOME IN CONNECTION WITH AN INCONSPICUOUS SENSING OF
THE SENSITIVE SPACE BETWEEN ALL AND SURROUNDING.
When phenomena occur, several things to emerge. What is typically left unnoticed in our environment now occupies the forefront of our concentration and the back of our subconscious.
When I can stretch my eye, or finger in silence, or eye in the universe of the horizon, I find my calm.

SOPHIE RUF
